The rest is Still Unwritten...

While reading this yearbook, we hope that you reflect on your past four years here at Regis College . From the beginning of our chapter on move in day, to the close of the chapter, walking off stage with our diploma in hand. We encourage you to remember this year's theme- "The Rest is Still Unwritten."

Regis College was a chapter in our lives. We have spent four years here, making treasured memories and life-long friends,.We have grown academically, spiritually and emotionally. We began our chapter here as 18-year-old freshmen curious as to what college life has to offer; now we are ending this chapter in time to open another as curious young adults. We hope you look back on this yearbook as you gain new memories, new friends, and begin to grow even more while you write the rest of your life-long story.

Letter from President Hays

To inscribe a signature is publicly to affirm some decision or action with one's very self. To inscribe a sentence is to assert a truth or value, and one is not considered literate unless one can. To inscribe a prescription is to lend one's authority to a medical intervention or recommended behavior to another . To write a poem is to say in a combination of words and sounds, one syllable after another, what is often unsayable. But to inscribe life - ah, that's still another matter. We can all perform the tasks listed above and even compose a thesis, but none of us can yet finish our own story or even dictate the next chapters for sure, expect in our imagination, hopes, plans, calculated next steps, and leaps of faith.

So "the rest is still unwritten"

Attending a university has brought you to the threshold of "the rest." Graduating opens the door to what is next - both immediate job, grad program, service activity, or relationship you are pursuing and also the wider horizon of what now seems to be an endless future.

Now you must take the next step, whatever it is. You've thought about it long and hard and chosen it, so take it - and don't be afraid of the wider horizon. Ponder that , too, and love it. Use a series of next steps to enter into it, one thing at a time - a new degree, a marriage, a fresh page, a different job - and also to keep it open, at least a little bit. The wider horizon of the heart especially is the territory of the possible, not the already written or the "same old, same old." Remember in the going that every challenge presents an opportunity.

If you like, keep a little journal about what you see in that wider horizon for yourself and other, what your choices might be and how the two interrelate. In such a way, you will actually document that you are, in fact, writing "the rest" one day and one year at a time or ten or fifty years at a time.

Both the Aristotelians and the existentialists argue that we are what we do. That's something to write home about, and in the years to come I hope you consider your alma mater part of your home base, letting us known what discoveries, commitments, and achievements become part of your book, your narrative of life.

President Antoinette M. Hays PhD. RN

Letter from SGA President

Dear Regis College Students,

It is hard to believe that we are at the end of our adventure here at Regis. We prayed for its quick delivery, we crossed days off our calendars, counted hours, minutes, seconds and now that it is here, I am sorry it is because it means leaving the comforting walls that we have known for the past four years. We have studied, added to our skills, developed ourselves in the spirit of the Sister's of St. Josephs and of course, had a lot of fun in the process.

It is now time to take all we have learned throughout our journey here and apply it to the world we are about to enter. I encourage you to take the time to cherish all that Regis has given you. Start somewhere. Anywhere and seize your future opportunities and make the most of them to leave the world a better place.

I wish you health, happiness and a fulfilling, purpose-driven life with the skills you have amassed here at Regis. Fulfill your purpose and travel your paths.

All the best,

Sarah Carew

Letter from Class President

Class of 2015,

We've made it! Four years in the making and we've just crossed the finish line. It is unreal to think how quickly these four years have passed. Through exams, papers, and presentations we've all persevered towards the goal of higher education. Reflecting on your time at Regis, don't only focus on how you've grown as a student, but as a person. Take all the life lessons college has taught you and apply them to each day of your life. Continue to grow into the person you're meant to become, and live life to the fullest!

I want to wish you all the sincerest luck in your future endeavors and always embrace the journey that it takes to get where you want to be.

Until next time,

Gregory Sarantakis

Senior Class President 2015

Letter from the Editor

Class of 2015,

I would like to start off by saying congratulations! All the time you spent with classes, homework, tests, clinical, student teaching and internships has finally paid off! We finally did it! I am so proud to say that I spent the past four years with the most hard-working, determined, fun-loving, chaotic group of students.

I hope that as you look through this yearbook, you cherish all the memories we have made with each other; starting from the first semester of freshman year to the last few weeks of senior year, and all the memories in between.

I would like to thank the staff that helped build this yearbook as well as our advisor, James Guaragna; this could not have been done without you!

We began a chapter of our lives here at Regis four years ago and now we are off to finish the rest of our stories. I wish you all the best of luck in the next chapter of your lives! Once again, congratulations Class of 2015!

Regis College History

Regis College is a Catholic Liberal Arts and Science College founded on May 27, 1927 by the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Boston. The College is named after the CSJ Founder Sister Mary Regis Casserly. Regis College is set on a beautiful 132-acre campus, located in the suburbs of Weston, Massachusetts.

Regis College is dedicated is providing it students with opportunities for spiritual growth, community service, and challenging academic studies. For eighty years, Regis College was an all women's college. In fall of 2007, Regis became co-educational admitting undergraduate men. At Regis, there is a tremendous feeling of community that grows every year.

Students, faculty and staff alike embrace the mission of the College, which states "Regis College, through education in the arts, sciences and professions, empowers women and men to challenge themselves academically, to serve and to lead. A Catholic college, Regis, is a diverse and welcoming community guided by the values of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Boston."
